By statute, the Fund exists to reimburse owners or operators of USTs for necessary corrective action costs and to compensate third parties for bodily injury and property damage associated with accidental releases of petroleum from assured USTs. Therefore, claimed costs that do not meet this requirement cannot be reimbursed and are disallowed. Currently, about 20% of the costs claimed for reimbursement are disallowed. Commonly submitted costs that are not reimbursable from the Fund include corrective action costs that are higher than what are typical; costs not necessary for or required by the State Fire Marshal's corrective action rules; costs associated with UST system testing, repairs, upgrades, and removals; and costs not timely submitted for reimbursement.
